For the splendid work
you've chosen
Of kindness, help and cheer,
May life reward you ever
With greater joy each year.

From
Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Barnum
Whatever road good wishes take,
There's always cause for them to make
A stop where friends like you reside.
With best regards at Christmastide!

Wednesday,

Dearest William,

Before leaving New York, I will write you a few lines to let you know that you will have all mistakes I have made in my writing. I have not been well since Monday night. I have been one of the lodgers being ill. But you are not.

My pretentious in attendance.

Certainly quite premature.

For pretentiously,

Yours devotedly,

Carrie.
Dear [Name],

I was so pleased to receive your letter and to learn that you are well and enjoying yourself. It was a pleasant surprise to hear from you again.

I hope you found the things you needed for the winter. I am sure everything will be fine now that you have settled in.

Do give my regards to [Person] and let me know if there is anything else I can do for you.

Yours sincerely,

[Your Name]
